Problem Statement: Idea that can improve the current state of tourism industries such as hotels, travel, and others.

Soution Statement:

Humans, as sociable animals, require someone with whom they may explore new locations, and the largest challenge they have is that they rarely find a partner or a group, owing to the fact that when they are free to travel, their friends or colleagues are not.

Here we introduce our app, which will assist you in finding a group or forming a duo to explore various tourist location. Travel Feeds will allow them to visit locations they have never seen before, as well as provide information on hotels and guides that will benefit the local economy.

Traveling in a group would encourage more people to visit, resulting in a higher number of tourists.

PREFERENCES AND INFORMATION

Solo travelers like Ms. Katz are joining guided tours at unprecedented rates, say tour organizers, with some companies reporting single bookings up 300 percent over those from couples, families or clusters of friends. The majority of these lone travelers have never taken a group trip before. After years of planning their

OTHER STATISTICS

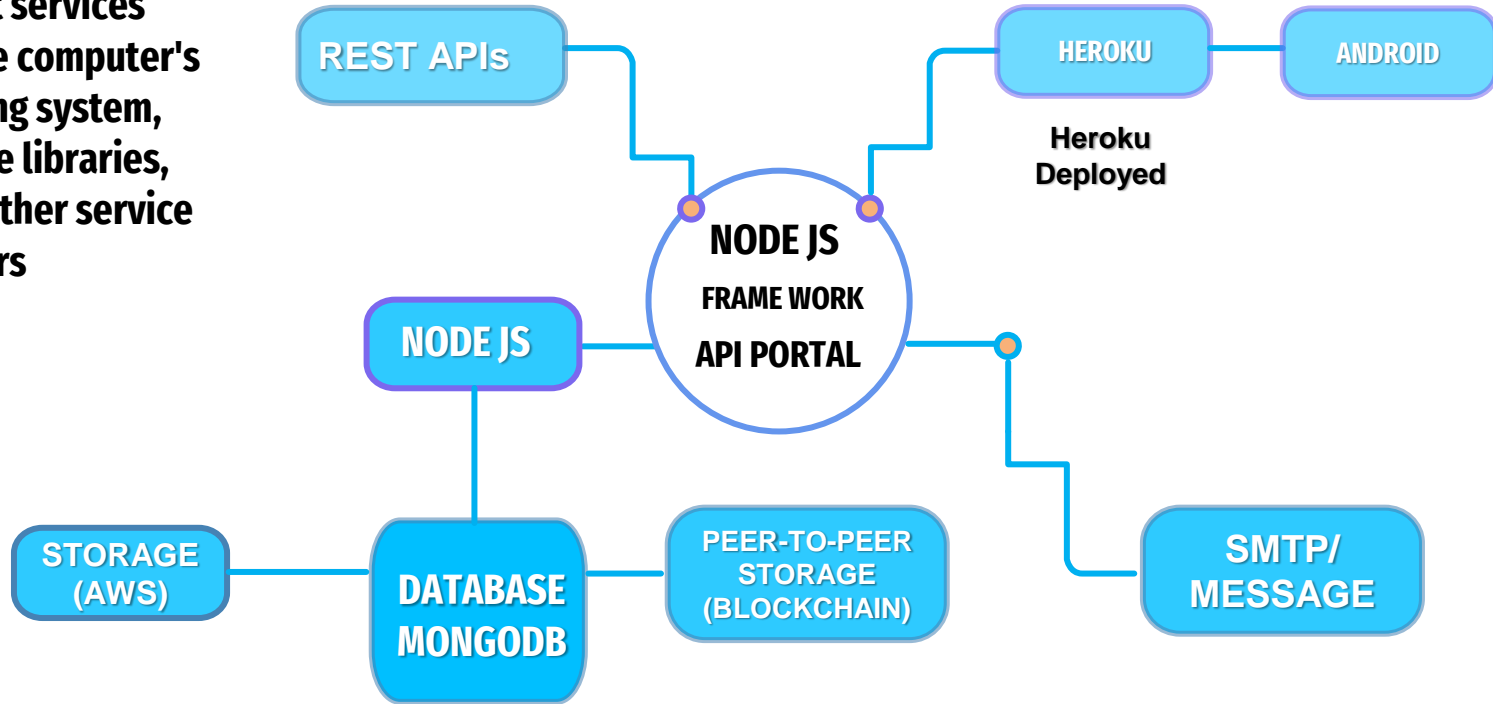

As per data provided by hospitality chain Oyo India, they saw an increase of nearly 133% in bookings made by solo travelers in December 2018, as compared to the same time in 2017. In fact, the survey conducted by booking.com, a travel fare aggregator revealed over half of India's population said they are keen to travel solo this year.
